

Peer Review: Mike

If you have ever worked with or gotten to know Mike, it is an experience unlike any other. I had the pleasure of working with him these last few weeks on simple things and having him show me the ropes. This time I got to work on a group project with him, and while its hard to say this about work, he has a way of making these projects really fun to do. Not only that he is very smart and was able to add some really cool features to our site that I had no clue how to do yet. Out of all the students at the academy I have definitely learned the most from him and he goes out of his way to help people alot. Whenever something needed to be done on our site, he would either make sure it was getting worked on or had one of us look at the progress of it. One of my favorite things is that no matter how good the site looks, he is always looking to improve and make it even better by 1 pixel. Can he be a tougher guy to get along with? Sure, but I'd recommend people learn from him and use his knowledge and expertise to grow in there own skills. He also made my job much easier as I was really sick this week so I am glad to have done this project with him. Would do it again for the razzle dazzle!
